PROBLEMS, NEEDS, & INTERESTS IDENTIFIED:

Crime is a problem. It molds our community and speaks to the character of our government.

Another concern is the way crime is reported. You have to look at how statistics are reported.

Statistics should be current. There is not a fair representation of crime that is reported. Things that do not get reported : the rate of return of a repeat offender, what the real problem is, what about judges not being held accountable, what about the courts. What is the real contributing factor.

ORGANIZATION/BUSINESS: Health Department

TIME/PLACE OF INTERVIEW: WREG Television Station

PROBLEMS, NEEDS, & INTERESTS IDENTIFIED:

Chronic diseases, like Diabetes and Obesity, are at a high rate in our community. These are related to lifestyles. You need to change what you do or not do and what you eat or don't eat.

There is not enough health care coverage. The Health Department does a lot that the public is not aware of. Example: monitor the air and water pollution. One-third of the adult population is functionally illiterate so written health information may not be an option. Being functionally illiterate may keep someone from getting a job, so they won't have health care. The Health Department needs better communication with radio (ex. being on talk radio to discuss health issues). Some parents do not allow vaccinations for their children. This causes illness to spread.

ORGANIZATION/BUSINESS: Juvenile Court

TIME/PLACE OF INTERVIEW: WREG Television Station

PROBLEMS, NEEDS, & INTERESTS IDENTIFIED:

Crime is a problem. The underlying factor with adult and juvenile criminals is broken and/or unstable homes. There has been an increase in violent crimes committed by juveniles. Some are abused or beaten or neglected. Juvenile Court tries to use a holistic approach by counseling the juvenile and the parent. Parents are sometimes in denial. Gangs are a problem. Zero tolerance is not fair. For example, kid brings a gun to school, but it's for protection, b/c he's being threatened. Kids can't learn in that type of environment. Roll should be taken every period, not just homeroom. Our leaders are corrupt. We need strong leadership in the city and we don't have that now.

TIME/PLACE OF INTERVIEW: WPTY/WLMT Television Station

PROBLEMS, NEEDS, & INTERESTS IDENTIFIED:

One of biggest problems is juvenile delinquency. It affects the future workforce. The level of youth violence is increasing. This affects other areas of the environment, like school. Our society does a good job of arresting youth but that's not the answer. We should catch them before they have to be arrested. Truancy is a problem and it's the community's job to try and prevent it, not law enforcement. There is also too much responsibility on the school to address problems, example, teenage pregnancy. The school's responsibility is to teach. We should use our existing police force to address problems in schools. The media should tell solution stories. Unsafe communities make residents and businesses leave. The community has to be more involved.

PROBLEMS, NEEDS, & INTERESTS IDENTIFIED:

The biggest problems are education and crime. Children are not prepared for school once they enter kindergarten. This means they are already behind. They are missing the fundamentals.
Some parents need parenting skills. Drugs and alcohol are invading our communities. The school system has the least amount of qualified teachers in the urban areas. The resources, books, and curriculum is not the same as suburban schools. The expectations are higher in the suburban areas than in the urban areas but it should be the same across the board.

Diane Sawyer anchors two specials examining the personal crises, family struggles and defining events that have shaped the candidates.

PRIMETIME: CRIME

Wednesday, July 2, 2008

Primetime: Crime investigates crime by going deep inside real cases, uncovering new evidence, and getting exclusive witness interviews. Did a successful man murder his wife or was he falsely accused? Did Julie Jensen commit suicide, or was her husband, Mark Jensen, responsible for a horrific murder? Jay Schadler reports.

Wednesday, July 9, 2008

Nina Reiser, a doctor, vanished two years ago. She had been in the midst of an acrimonious divorce. In April this year, her husband, Hans, convicted for her murder, led police to a body he says is that of Nina. Did he lead police to his wife's body to reduce his sentence? Primetime: Crime investigates.

Wednesday, July 16, 2008

The FBI estimates that currently there are 100,000 minors in America being forced to trade sex for money. But while the notion of young American girls being forced into sexual slavery may be difficult to fathom, this week Cynthia McFadden takes a look inside the underground world of domestic trafficking of children.

Wednesday, July 23, 2008

Would an abducted young mother, Denise Lee, be alive today if not for human error at the 911 switchboard after she was abducted by a stranger? Denise even called 911 from her alleged abductor's cell phone, but police were unable to locate her. Jim Avila reports on an unthinkable crime and the mistakes made that may have cost a woman her life.

Wednesday, August 13, 2008

Investigators unravel the brutal murder of a husband and wife in their own home in Valley, Idaho. Could their daughter have done this horrific crime? Primetime: Crime reports.

Wednesday, August 20, 2008

ABC NEWS SPECIALS-- Third Quarter, 2008

HOPKINS (Six Part Series)

Thursday, July 3, 2008

In the second installment of "Hopkins," time is running out for a woman with an obscure lung disease, and a young surgeon is part of the effort to save her, even as he continues to deal with his own marital problems. The "Hopkins" series captures astounding scenes of medical crisis with young doctors forced to make life and death decisions on the fly. The result is a stunningly intimate portrait of the men and women who call this hospital home.

Thursday, July 10, 2008

In the third episode of "Hopkins" a woman from rural West Virginia finds an inner city Emergency Room to be an eye-opener, while a high spirited heart transplant patient plays hooky the day of his surgery and gambles with his life.

Thursday, July 17, 2008

In the fourth hour of Hopkins, a seemingly healthy toddler is rushed to Hopkins where his parents learn he may have a fatal heart ailment, while an unorthodox surgeon interrogates his residents about their romantic lives, as he himself approaches marriage for the third time.

Thursday, July 24, 2008

From a plastic surgeon who was told he wouldn't pass muster but now is performing miracles to three medical students whose patients sometimes feel like guinea pigs, the fifth hour of "Hopkins" documents what it takes to make it as a caregiver at Johns Hopkins Hospital.

Thursday, July 31, 2008

In the sixth episode of Hopkins, a first year surgical resident makes a potentially career-ending mistake, while a pioneering surgeon tries the first bicoastal three-way kidney transplant in history.

Thursday, August 7, 2008

On the season finale of "Hopkins," doctors are perplexed by the heart of a young girl from China, and an ER doctor from earlier episodes asks a colleague to help her find a date.

Dear Lia,

8/20/08

Thank you so much for the coverage of our 5K, Run from the Sun & melanoma awareness. We realize that you have so many stories to cover & the coverage is so appreciated. We had 550 runners/walkers at the race! Together, there is no doubt that we saved at least 1 life. That makes it all worth it!

Thanks again,
Cheryl Lawrence Moore
Executive Director

Dear Tommy,

Thank you for being a sponsor of the Cooper Young Festival. The Festival was extremely successful this year, thanks to sponsors like your self. The crowds were enormous and I couldn't have wished for more beautiful weather. All in all – it was the perfect day to mingle with 75,000 – 80,000 Festival attendees in a celebration of all that the Historic Cooper Young District has to offer.

I am surprised every year with who wants to partner with us and what exposure they are looking for. The answers to these questions are always very diverse and usually there are some new items that even I haven't thought of yet. If there are any items that we can improve on in the future to increase your publicity surrounding the Festival or the day of the Festival, please let me know by dropping me an email at cyba@bellsouth.net.

The Festival Committee is glad that you were with us this year. We hope that your day was successful and that you will be back with us for next year's event. The date for Cooper Young Festival 09 is September 19, 2009. Please mark your calendar. I will be in touch in January so that you can exercise your first right of refusal for the 09 Festival.

Thank you for helping us keep Cooper Young a viable part of Midtown, Memphis.

Sincerely,

Tamara Walker
CYBA Director
